DISTRAUGHT AFTER ANOTHER BOY IS KILLED

Tragic loss: Kasey Gordon was well loved by friends and staff at Park View Academy where flowers were left, below

Tributes to talented student stabbed dead

By Lucy Purdy

A YOUNG man has been charged with murdering a "talented and popular" student who was stabbed as he made his way home from Park View Academy last week.

Police patrols have been stepped up around West Green Road in Tottenham after the community was left reeling in shock from the seemingly random attack, which also left three other teenagers injured.

Kasey Gordon, 15, bled to death from a single stab wound after he was attacked while on his way home on Thursday afternoon. The schoolboy was pronounced dead at the scene of the fight which erupted outside a takeaway shop at around 3.45pm.

Serif Aslan, a 33-year-old man from Philip Lane, Tottenham, was arrested near the scene and appeared at Highgate Magistrates' Court on Monday having been charged with Kasey's murder. He also faces two counts of grievous bodily harm and one of actual bodily harm.

Three other boys, who are thought to be schoolfriends of Kasey's, were also caught up in the incident. A 14-year-old was stabbed, a 16-year-old was also injured and another 14-year-old suffered a minor facial wound. None of their injuries are thought to be serious.

Alex Atherton, headteacher at Park View, paid tribute to Kasey who was from the Finsbury Park area. He said: "The whole school community is in shock as we mourn the tragic loss of our student. He was a highly talented and popular student who had a brilliant future in front of him. He will be very sadly missed by everyone."

"Our thoughts and prayers are with his family and friends as well as the other three pupils who were injured."

"We have organised some special assemblies for pupils. Help and counselling is being provided for anyone who needs it."

Grieving friends and relatives also left online tributes on Facebook and the condolence website www.gonetoo.soon.org. One read: "Rest in peace Kasey. I remember you as a young boy in South Haringay school in the playground with the biggest smile on your face. You will be much missed. God bless to you and your family. You are one of our angels R.I.P."

Another wrote on Friday: "Today was hard. It was hard to see everybody so distraught, worst day of my life. I will miss you more than you could imagine. LY always."

Another school friend said she would remember Kasey as "that happy little man who had the most beautiful smile on his face".

Detectives from the Homicide and Serious Crime Command, based at Hendon, are still trying to get to the bottom of what happened but do not believe it was a targeted attack.

Detective Inspector Sheila Stewart said: "At this time it is unclear how this tragic incident happened."

"We are appealing for witnesses or anyone with information to come forward. It happened on a busy road in the afternoon."

"We are speaking to several witnesses

Outcry from council amid most 'savage cuts in history'

Parking hikes and more announced

A HIKE in parking charges and the closure of some customer service centres in Haringey are among the proposals in a second round of cost-cutting ideas announced by council bosses.

Some council committees may also be merged and child support targeted to only the most vulnerable families in the borough.

Detailed plans for a further £34million of savings over three years were published on Friday and are in addition to more than £28million of cutbacks announced in December.

Central government cuts leave the council facing a £46million budget shortfall next year alone, and a 13 per cent reduction in grants – the second-highest cut in the capital behind the City of London, and 4.5 per cent above the average for outer London boroughs.

Councillor Joe Goldberg, cabinet member for finance and sustainability, said: "Haringey is facing the most savage cuts in the borough's history.

"We are being made to cut too fast

Loud and proud:
Scenes from last week's march and too deep – and trying to find these savings has been an incredibly difficult task.

"We lobbied, and continue to fight, for a fairer settlement for Haringey – which is already one of the most deprived boroughs in the country – but our pleas are being ignored. Instead, the government has prioritised more affluent areas, such as Richmond and Dorset."

Council leader Claire Kober added: "We don't want to salami-slice services to a point where quality collapses – we want to ensure that the services we offer remain of a high standard. We will do our best to prioritise services for the most vulnerable and those that matter most to Haringey residents, but the cuts imposed on us leave reductions in services unavoidable."

More than 1,000 staff face redundancy and consultation has begun with those employees likely to be affected.

Final decisions on the 2011/12 budget will be taken at a meeting of the full council on February 17.

School staff member charged with 16 counts of creating child porn

A TEACHING assistant who worked at a school in Harringay has been charged with 16 counts of making child pornography.

Dwight Krause, 54, of Newnham Road, Wood Green, worked at South Harringay Infants' School in Pemberton Road until the charges came to light.

He will appear at City of Westminster Magistrates' Court on Monday after being suspended from the school last summer when police contacted it with evidence of what they had uncovered.

Officers from the Metropolitan Police's Abuse And Extreme Images Unit, part of the Serious Crime Command, are investigating.

None of the images are thought to relate to children at the school.

A spokesman for Haringey Council said: "Mr Krause was suspended as soon as we were informed by the police of the evidence they had discovered.

"We are unable to comment in any further detail as we would not want to prejudice any legal action."

Council staff have sent letters to parents of children at the school and arranged for a police officer, a social worker and a representative from children's charity NSPCC to meet with parents on Friday and answer their questions.

The NSPCC helpline is 0808 800 5000.

Views sought on Wards Corner plan

PEOPLE can give their views on the proposed Wards Corner redevelopment at a public meeting in Tottenham on Monday.

Residents are invited to attend the meeting at The College of Haringey, Enfield and North East London, in High Road, at 7pm.

Candy Amsden, a member of the Wards Corner Coalition, urged everyone who is concerned about the proposal by developer Grainger to transform the area with new luxury housing and shops, to go along.

She said: "We've been fighting this for many years and we're hoping everyone will come together once again."

Nurses on song in fundraising charity album

By Lucy Purdy

FOUR nurses from The Whittington Hospital are hoping to storm the charts and collect cash for charity at the same time by releasing an album.

The daily routines of Andrea Darke, Jo Austin, Gaynor Wood and Sharon Robinson, are a million miles away from the glamorous photo shoots and TV appearances of their chart rivals, but the quartet hope to come out singing when their debut album Guiding You is released on March 14.

Based at The Whittington Hospital in Highgate, The Nurses are not hoping for a new career in the music industry but decided to put their shared love of singing to good use by raising money for Macmillan Cancer Support. A total of 25p from each sale of Guiding You will go to the charity, which is celebrating its centenary this year.

"We love singing and we've performed together at the hospital," explained Jo, who lives in Bounds Green and whose hero is Warner Music label-mate Elaine Paige.

"This seemed like a great opportunity and, as well as enjoying every minute, we hope to highlight some issues too. Macmillan's centenary year seemed like the perfect time to do that.

"It campaigns on a lot of issues that we feel strongly about and apply to patient care in general."

Songwriters Jason Nolan and Jake Hook, from Warner, said they were proud to be working with the group.

"My mum is a nurse," said Jake. "I know how hard they work and how dedicated they are and I wanted to celebrate that – to highlight the unsung heroes in society. But it was difficult to find the group. We advertised but nurses are so dedicated that they don't easily find time for this sort of thing. Eventually, we were told about these girls who had performed together for events at The Whittington. They were already friends, already a group and definitely unsung heroes."

Jason added: "If there's one thing that personifies why this group is different from any other, it's when we were shooting video material at the hospital. They were in make-up when Jo's alarm went off. A lady was haemorrhaging and Jo rushed off to help. Jo saved a woman's life that day and then calmly came back to carry on with us. She took it in her stride, but we were in awe."

The album contains classics such as Fields Of Gold, Nothing Compares 2 U and Footprints In The Sand, as well as three tracks which have been written specially for the foursome.

Police reassure the shocked community

Continued from front but would like more people to come forward, no matter how insignificant they think their information is."

Acting Borough Commander in Haringey, Chris Barclay, added: "Every case of violent crime is treated extremely seriously and we are doing everything we can to support the investigation being carried out by our colleagues in the Homicide and Serious Crime Command. My officers are carrying out additional patrols to reassure the community."

Anyone with information is asked to call the incident room on 020 8358 0400 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Police launched another murder investigation elsewhere in the borough after an 18-year-old man was found stabbed at a house in Harringay last week.

A 16-year-old has been charged with killing the man at a house in Hermitage Road on January 19. He is also charged with the attempted murder of a 42-year-old man and a 43-year-old woman.

Police from the Homicide and Serious Crime Command are investigating.

Report sheds light on rise in number of converts to Islam

THE number of British people converting to Islam has almost doubled since 2001, according to a new study commissioned by a former councillor in Haringey.

The report, entitled A Minority Within A Minority, was carried out by the inter-faith think tank Faith Matters, which is headed up by former Liberal Democrat Noel Park councillor Fiyaz Mughal.

It estimates that the number of people converting to Islam has risen from about 60,000 in 2001 to up to 100,000 today. Researchers spoke to 120 converts – many of whom are white women – to gain an insight into the experience of Muslim converts around the UK – and many of their findings were groundbreaking, as Mr Mughal explained to the Advertiser.

“There are many discussions around the subject of people converting to Islam – some of it good but many of the discourses have been negative. There has never been a proper study into the subject so we decided it would be good to look at what the facts actually are.

“The assumption is that converts are often young and vulnerable but this study shows that it is just not the case. We found the average age of converts is actually 27 or 28, which suggests people are taking their time and having rational discussions about the issue, looking at it later on in life for spiritual and theological reasons.

“Many of those converting in recent years have been women, which is interesting.

“Also striking was that more than 90 per cent of converts believe they can act in local areas as bridges between Muslims and non-Muslims. So, as a community, they have much to offer our country and to both Muslims and non-Muslims.”

While many assume women turn to Islam simply because they are marrying a Muslim man, Mr Mughal said this was not overwhelmingly the case.

Another chapter of the report is dedicated to the way Islam is represented in the UK media and concludes that British national newspapers help perpetuate negative stereotypes of Islam.

The majority of stories published about people who have converted to the religion are linked to terrorism and extremism, the report claimed.

Mr Mughal's next project, already under way, is a report on the support on offer for vulnerable converts in all faiths.

Spurs' boss defends ditching of Olympic track if club win bid

By Lucy Purdy

SPURS chairman Daniel Levy has outlined his reasons behind the controversial bid to take over the Olympic stadium in an open letter to fans.

Writing before the final decision from the Olympic Park Legacy Company on their preferred bidder for the £500million stadium, Mr Levy outlined an “iconic” vision which he promised would include a “comprehensive athletics legacy”.

Spurs have gone head-to-head with their Premier League rivals West Ham United and submitted rival bids to take over the stadium following the 2010 Games.

But Tottenham have also received planning permission from Haringey Council for a multi-million-pound development next to their existing home at White Hart Lane, and their bid for the east London site has been viewed by many fans and Tottenham residents as a betrayal.

The club has also been criticised for its plan to demolish most of the Olympic site and rebuild it, with Tottenham MP David Lammy calling the scheme “a diabolical waste of public money”.

In the letter, which was published on the club's website, Mr Levy said: “Our proposals for the Olympic stadium include an iconic 60,000-seater stadium which would rank among the finest in the world and deliver one of the best fan experiences anywhere in Europe.

“Proposals include reusing the existing infrastructure to maximise the benefit of the public investment to date. The easiest option for us would undoubtedly have been to bid for the Olympic stadium site with a retained athletics track. But it would have been the wrong option. The front-row seats in the Olympic stadium, with a retained track, would be up to 45metres from the pitch; in our stadium design they would be eight metres from the action.”

Mr Levy further explained that football and athletics cannot co-exist successfully in the same stadium.

He added: “There are examples all over the world of clubs removing tracks or moving stadiums simply because of the poor spectator experience and lack of sustainability in the long-term due to decreasing attendances.

“I'm ever conscious of the feelings of our fans – on all fronts. I have never made any secret of the fact I'm ambitious on behalf of this club and our fans. A new stadium is critical to our continued success.”

OPLC was due to announce its decision on Friday but postponed the announcement, saying it needs more time to study the bids.

Cellist plucked for glory after YouTube show

By Sangita Ladwa

A MUSICIAN from Muswell Hill has been selected from more than 2,000 rivals across the world to play in this year's YouTube Symphony Orchestra.

Desmond Neysmith, of Alexandra Park Road, was plucked from obscurity to take part in the 97-strong orchestra which was put together following a global online audition. As well as taking part in a week of rehearsals and concerts, including a final performance at the Sydney Opera House, Desmond will collaborate with Australian singer songwriter Luke Tomer in a smaller project run by Tourism Australia.

Desmond, who has played the cello for more than 30 years, said: “They are two very different experiences and I am looking forward to both. The first will be very creative, while the second will be about artistic collaboration. The YouTube Symphony Orchestra is a unique experience because it involves amateurs, professionals and students too. The orchestra is about people sharing their passion for music.

“It will be very special. At a time when funding for the arts is being cut, YouTube and Google are making a huge effort to show that music is not a luxury.”

The final performance at the Sydney Opera House on March 20 will be streamed live around the world. Desmond and Luke will take part in tourist activities such as climbing the Sydney Harbour Bridge, meeting Aboriginal elders and a bush walkabout. They will then write new pieces of music inspired by their adventures.

Desmond studied at the Royal College of Music and completed his post-graduate studies at the Royal Northern College Of Music in Manchester. Nine orchestras from around the world were involved in the YouTube orchestra judging panel, including the London Symphony Orchestra, Berliner Philharmoniker and Sydney Symphony. YouTube users were then invited to vote from the 300 finalists selected.

FEATURE

Gliding to a new era at Ally Pally's upgraded ice rink

Roving reporter: The Advertiser's Lucy Purdy takes to the revamped ice rink under the watchful eye of coach Becky Smith

By Lucy Purdy

SLIP into some sequined lycra, lace up your too-tight boots and get set to bust some wobbly moves – Alexandra Palace's ice-rink has re-opened following a £2.3-million revamp.

And even if you do not fancy the chance to mimic the likes of Kerry Katona and rap wonder Vanilla Ice, currently spinning and sliding their way through this year's Dancing On Ice series on ITV1, palace chiefs hope you will pay the new rink a visit.

Reopening last week to much fanfare, including a spectacular gala launch event on Friday evening and a visit by rapper-of-the-moment Chipmunk, the rink has been closed for nine months to allow refurbishment work to take place. The entrance hall and changing rooms have received a much-needed spruce-up, a new more environmentally friendly chiller system has been installed and the ice surface has been improved to make it flatter and easier to skate on, (or so they told me).

I was one of the first to take to the new rink, risking a humiliating mishap in front of the assembled workmen, but still eager to try it for size without any whizzing, showboating show-offs in sight.

"It's a really great surface – the ice is so fast!" enthused 28-year-old skating coach Becky Smith, as she took me by the hand and guided me, very slowly, across the rink.

"It's difficult to put into words why I love skating so much," she said after completing a few gliding, elegant circuits, skating backwards and turning with breathless ease.

"It's hard to explain how it feels until people have skated themselves. I think people either hate it – because they don't have the confidence and are fearful of the ice – or they absolutely love it and are hooked for life. It's definitely not an easy sport though. It's actually one of the most difficult because you have to combine balance, power and flexibility. It incorporates everything."

The fact that the investment has addressed the lumps and bumps in the rink's surface means that the palace's championship skaters will now be able to compete on an international level and it is hoped that the palace's ice hockey team will also soon be reinstated.

But Rebecca Kane, managing director of Alexandra Palace Trading Limited, hopes that ordinary families will also flock once again to the rink for some old-fashioned family fun... and bring with them some much-needed cash.

She said: "I really want to see the 15 and 16-year-olds coming back. I've loved seeing them come down here and know that they're choosing to spend their pocket money or cash from their Saturday jobs on coming here to skate. That's why we got Chipmunk down. He's a Tottenham boy and has great memories of skating here when he was younger."

"I think ice-skating appeals to a massive range of people. We have disco nights on Saturdays, a chill-out skating session on Sundays, toddlers on ice and adult coffee drop-in sessions and we're also planning special events throughout the year such as on Valentine's Day."

"We can also offer team away and training days here because we have the conferencing facilities at the palace as well, and obviously birthdays and private parties too."

"I think ice-skating is great first date material too – so much more fun than the cinema."

Just as I start to build up confidence on the ice and even attempt going backwards – without a bruise in sight – it's time to let the experts do their stuff and finish getting the surface ready for the big show on Friday evening.

Though it's tempting to sit inside on cold winter nights and watch perma-tanned celebrities moan and sob all over their spandex, having a go at the real thing has to be a better option.

Visit www.alexandrapalace.com/whats-on/ice-rink to find out more about the rink.

Comedy try-hards stand and deliver

FROM tomorrow until next Wednesday 32 comedians will be performing at what must be London's busiest stand-up venue.

That works out at eight funny men and women a night for your delectation, Downstairs at the King's Head in Crouch End.

OK, so one of those nights is the infamous Try Out Night – tomorrow playing host to 15 comedians of varying degrees of quality – but still, the venue offers great value for money in these belt-tightening times.

First up, as stated, is the “legendary” Thursday entertainment in which the hecklers are often funnier than the acts. Then again you might also be lucky enough to catch one of the stars of tomorrow and it wasn't many moons ago that Office and Hollywood star Mackenzie Crook was bottom of the Try Out bill.

It's followed on Saturday by the Comedy Cabaret which this week stars Gareth Richards, Ria Lina, Matt Green, Ninia Benjamin and Lateef Lovejoy. Downstairs' veteran, Dominic Frisby, also once again comperes proceedings.

On Sunday it's the turn of the Comedy Variety Cabaret featuring five acts and James Mullinger as the glue between the acts while next Tuesday it's a welcome new addition to the mirth menu of Clover & Cohen's Funny Story Night which will take place on the first Tuesday of every month and is billed as a “celebration of adult storytelling” with lots of audience games, celebrity guests, interviews and stories.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice.
2. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
3. Classified Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed "Trade Advertisers", and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
4. To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as "trade", "dealer", "agent", "wholesaler", "IT" etc. in the advertisement.
5. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
- (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the advertiser.
6. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
7. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
8. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
9. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
10. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance by surcharge, payable by the advertiser to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
11. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
12. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
13. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
14. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
15. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
- (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
- (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
16. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect of an advertisement (ment) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
17. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
18. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
19. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
20. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.
- Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. Loser is Version on the ridiculous

Barney's Version (15)

Dir: Richard J Lewis

Starring: Paul Giamatti, Dustin Hoffman, Rosamund Pike

BARNEY'S VERSION is a dirty, good-for-nothing lie. Not because it's based on one man's highly questionable version of events but because it centres on Paul Giamatti sleeping with or marrying a host of utterly divine goddesses.

That will be the Paul Giamatti who looks like a bullfrog with a beard. He is overweight, balding and has hairy arms. His character spends all his time watching TV, drinking, smoking fat cigars. And yet, like that other great frog-face George Formby, he has an inexplicable knack of causing beautiful women to go weak at the knees with lust. Ridiculous.

Barney Panofsky's first wife is played by Rachelle Lefevre (the flame-haired beauty from the Twilight saga). His second is leggy Minnie Driver cast as a gorgeous Jewish princess, while the third is played by ex-Bond girl Rosamund Pike. I mean, c'mon ladies, this is Homer Simpson's older brother we're talking about here – or Woody Allen's love-rival minus the laughs. Are you blind, perverted, or is this yet another example of chauvinistic wish-fulfilment? (Strange you never see films about overweight, middle-aged women picking up gorgeous hunks).

The consequences of this massive gap between Hollywood dross and grim reality is that it undermines the whole charade to make it risible, if not offensive. Perhaps it would be less pathetic if Barney was at least interesting but he's a tedious nobody. It beggars belief that a major movie was made about such a coach potato.

Based on Mordecai Richler's "prize-winning comic novel" we slavishly follow boring, bearded Barney over four decades and three failed marriages. Little of interest happens (at 135 minutes it's 100 minutes too long), although Barney might or might not have killed his best friend by accident. Barney's father is played by Dustin Hoffman who gets some good lines while Minnie Driver gives the best performance, providing much-needed comic relief as an unhinged diva, and I can only wish this was Barney's Dad's Version or Barney's Mental Wife No. 2's Version.

But this is really Barney's film – and all the worse for it.

Now Showing...

Morning Glory (12A)

A troubled TV morning show called, amusingly, Daybreak. But instead of Adrian Chiles and Christine Bleakley we have the far more robust, gold-plated pairing of Harrison Ford and Diane Keaton as co-hosts who make life hell for producer Becky Fuller (winsome Rachel McAdams).

127 Hours (15)

An explorer trapped with his arm under a boulder for five days might not seem the best material but in the hands of kinetic Danny Boyle it becomes a tense and gruesome spectacle celebrating the power of the human spirit in adversity. Ensure you have time for a stiff drink afterwards.

The King's Speech (12A)

Mark this royal wedding year with this top best-of-British tale of William's great-grandfather, George VI. Golden Globe winner Colin Firth is in perfect pitch to play the stammering monarch.

Burlesque (12A)

Stripping off has rarely been so mundane and predictable as in this cliché-ridden little tease. Christina Aguilera and Cher make this a great soundtrack for a lame duck of a movie.

Adding bands to the menu beats the recession blues

Restaurant News

Spice Villa, 229-231 Fore Street,
Edmonton 020 8807 4069 / 8803 2240

WHEN you walk into Spice Villa, the staff are clearly not shy in showing off the recognition they have earned for their hard work during the past few years.

One of their first things hungry diners will notice is their collection of awards, including two runner-ups for our very own Gannets' Restaurant Of The Year.

As we tucked into our beautiful lamb xacuti, it wasn't hard to see why the restaurant regularly features in many Best Of... lists, as it proudly boasts an enormous and mouth-watering selection of house specials and traditional dishes.

Deluwar Hussain, Spice Villa's manager for the past four years, revealed how he has been coping with the recession by regularly putting on live music, mainly tribute acts, to entertain his loyal customers. "We were quite quiet, but it's picked up again since October," he said. "People are still spending money, but not like before. But the entertainment has really helped us through. The acts have been really popular."

Bands which have performed at the restaurant so far include tributes to Abba and Frank Sinatra. One of Spice Villa's most popular nights is Legends Of Soul starring Paul Cantata, which is taking place again on Saturday, March 5.

"I really like them. Paul is really good in it," said Hussain of his personal favourite.

The group is well known in the area, and it is suggested that diners looking forward to the night book well in advance.

Another recession-busting innovation is the lunchtime delivery service which has become particularly popular with offices looking for a spicier alternative to tired old sandwiches or the occasional pizza.

● Opening hours: Mondays to Saturdays, noon to 2.30pm and 6pm to noon; Sundays, noon to 11pm.

LAST CHANCE TO SECURE A HOME AT WOOLENS GROVE

Immediate Release

TIME is running out for potential purchasers hoping to secure an apartment at Barratt Homes' popular Woolens Grove development in Hoddesdon. Just three properties remain at the scheme and a marked increase in visitor numbers since the New Year combined with the addition of a furniture package worth £8,000, means they may not be around for long.

Comprising 33 two-bedroom apartments in total, Woolens Grove is located on the sought-after Hertford Road leading to Hertford Heath. The remaining apartments are exceptionally spacious and start from just £190,385. However, purchasers who take advantage of Barratt Homes' first-time buyer scheme Head Start, could secure one of the last properties at the development for as little as £161,827.

Head Start is a shared equity scheme that has already helped thousands of purchasers onto the property ladder for less. Requiring a minimal five per cent deposit, purchasers at Woolens Grove only need to find a mortgage worth up to 80 per cent of the value of the property. Barratt contributes up to 15 per cent in the form of a loan which can be paid back over ten years or when the property is sold - whichever come sooner.

Along with the furniture package worth up to £8,000, all three apartments will be complete with carpets throughout. This fantastic deal means that first-time buyers can move straight in to their new apartment with out the expense of furnishing it.

Alternatively, these apartments could provide an excellent buy-to-let investment, as they would be ready to let on completion with no added fuss.

Chris Scarborough, Sales Director for Barratt North London comments: "The apartments at Woolens Grove have proven extremely popular and with the addition of this fantastic furniture deal, we don't expect the final few to hang around for long. I would encourage potential purchasers to move quickly to avoid disappointment."

In addition to the furniture package, all apartments at Woolens Grove include stylish fitted kitchens complete with a range of stainless steel integrated appliances. Bathrooms and ensuites benefit from smart white sanitary with sleek taps and fittings.

For further information on the last three apartments at Woolens Grove or to find out more about Head Start please call 01992 461751 or visit www.barratthomes.co.uk/woolensgrove.

PIENAAR'S JOY AT SPURS MOVE

By Dominique Stafford

STEVEN PIENAAR has backed Tottenham Hotspur to win silverware this season after completing his move to White Hart Lane.

The South Africa captain turned down the chance to go to Premier League champions Chelsea when he joined Spurs from Everton last week in a £2.5million deal, and made his debut at Newcastle on Saturday – when Tottenham needed a last-gasp leveller from Aaron Lennon to snatch a 1-1 draw.

And Pienaar is confident that the club can continue the progress they have made since Harry Redknapp took over as manager in October 2008.

"I'm delighted to be here," he said. "We are not far off first place in the Premier League, so I think we've got a good chance to go all the way and win a trophy this season."

"When you look at the way the team has been playing, they are really serious challengers for the cups, while the run in the Champions League has made a lot of people change their minds about Spurs."

"As a player you want to play in a good team and challenge yourself, and that's what I always try to do as an individual."

"Every footballer wants to play in the big games. I've got a good history against AC Milan because I scored against them in the Champions League [for Ajax], so if I get an opportunity against them with Spurs hopefully I'll do the same again."

Redknapp was happy with Pienaar's contribution on his debut, and is confident that the midfielder will go on to have a big impact at the club.

"I was very pleased with him, he's a good player," the manager said. "He got cramp in the last five minutes, but that can happen with nervous tension on your debut."

"He's at a new club and he's spent the week travelling back and forth. I threw him in at the deep end and I was pleased with his performance."

"He's a good footballer. I like people who can play and he's good on the ball. I think he will do well for us."

'Boro fail to get any reward for a good showing

A GOOD performance brought no reward for Haringey Borough as they were beaten 2-0 at high-flying Royston Town in the Spartan Premier Division on Saturday.

An entertaining contest saw both teams go on the attack from the start, but it was Royston who created the first real chance when Ryan Lockett's close-range diving header was brilliantly turned over the bar by Borough keeper Brian Sealey.

Although David Boal and Jamie Brandon both went close for the visitors, Royston continued to create the better chances and they eventually took the lead on 35 minutes when Bobby Dance unleashed a low 12-yard shot which went under Sealey's poorly timed dive.

And Borough were left with a mountain to climb when they fell further behind on 53 minutes, Dance making no mistake from the spot after he had been felled in the box by a rash challenge from Sealey near the byline.

Charles Douse was then forced to head off the line, but it was the visitors who dominated most of the remainder of the match as they produced arguably their best 45 minutes of football so far this season.

However, despite creating a number of dangerous situations, some excellent defending meant that clear-cut chances were at a premium as Royston held on for the win.

Haringey Borough go to Hanwell Town on Saturday (3pm).
